

Prof. Thomas Berger, MD, MSc, is Vice-Chair of the Clinical Dept. of Neurology, Medical University of Innsbruck, Austria, and since 1996 Head of the Neuroimmunology and MS Clinic (serving approx. 3000 MS patients) and of the Neuroimmunology Research Unit.

He graduated in 1991 at the Medical University of Vienna, Austria, and postgraduated in 2002 in "Hospital Management and Health Economics". He started his career at the Dept. of Exp. Neuropathology and Neuroimmunology (Hans Lassmann) and received board certification in neurology and psychiatry in 1998. Scientific interests focus on inflammatory demyelinating CNS disorders, especially in MS and NMO. He has published more than 270 peer-reviewed papers/research letters/invited reviews and several books/ book chapters. He was several times awarded, including byECTRIMS and by the European Charcot Foundation and was/is principal investigator in more than 40 clinical treatment trials. T. Berger is the National MS Coordinator of the Austrian Society of Neurology and member/chair of international and national MS organizations and panels.