

Dr. Cohen is Director of the Experimental Therapeutics Program at the Cleveland Clinic Mellen Multiple Sclerosis Center and Hazel Prior Hostetler Professor of Neurology. He served as Mellen Center Director 2014-2017. Dr. Cohen has published extensively on clinical, immunologic, and imaging aspects of MS. He has had a leadership role in a large number of clinical trials of potential therapies for MS, translational studies, studies to validate outcome measures, and observational studies.